Monthly Update as at 30 June 2018

Management Commentary

The trust outperformed over June. Positive contributors to relative returns included stock selection in electronic & electrical equipment and in chemicals. Detractors included stock selection in industrial engineering and stock selection and an overweight position in automobiles & parts. An overweight position in the Danish IT consultancy Netcompany was beneficial for the portfolio as it rose strongly following its initial public offering (IPO). Our overweight in Swedish bus operator Nobina also contributed to returns as it announced a highly accretive acquisition. Our overweight position in French premium spirits producer Rémy Cointreau was detrimental as investors worried about a potential slow start to the new financial year combined with the company's high valuation. Additionally, our overweight position in the Dutch design and engineering consultant Arcadis was negative for relative returns due to profit-taking after a strong run.
