Management Commentary

In November Europe ex UK finished around 2.0% lower, up 9.9% year-to-date and up 16.4% over the last 12 months. The euro recovered some of the ground it had lost against the US dollar in October, but is still below its year-to-date high. The oil price made new 2017 highs, and industrial metals prices were also strong. Meanwhile, bond markets rallied, despite the signs of strong growth, bringing long-term yields lower. This yield curve flattening meant that interest-sensitive sectors such as real estate, consumer staples and energy outperformed, while cyclicals like consumer discretionary, industrials and information technology underperformed. The Income class NAV outperformed the market and stock selection was positive. Income investing as a style outperformed as interest rates fell, and it was this style element which, more than anything, drove the fund's outperformance. At a stock level, the main contributors were large cyclical stocks that fell, but which we did not own because they do not qualify on yield grounds: Vestas, Leonardo, Altice (which more than halved after running into financing issues) and Cap Gemini all fall under this category. We also benefited from our overweight holdings in the real estate sector, and credit insurer Euler Hermes was bid for.

GLOSSARY OF TERMS

BENCHMARK COMPARISON - Comparison of the Company's performance is made with the benchmark. The benchmark is a recognised index of stocks which should not be taken as wholly representative of the Company's investment universe. The Company's investment strategy does not follow or track this index and therefore there may be a degree of divergence between its performance and that of the Company.

CASH - Net current assets including investment in liquidity funds & treasury stocks (if held) and drawn revolving credit facilities (if any) with an original maturity of less than 1 year.

DISCOUNT / PREMIUM - If the share price of an investment company is lower than the net asset value (NAV) per share, the company is said to be trading at a discount. If the share price of an investment company is higher than the net asset value (NAV) per share, the company is said to be trading at a premium. The discount/premium is shown as a percentage of the NAV.

GEARING - Gearing represents the excess amount above shareholders' funds of total assets expressed as a percentage of the shareholders' funds. Total assets include total investments and net current assets/liabilities less cash/cash equivalents and excluding bank loans of less than one year. If the amount calculated is negative this is known as a 'net cash' position.

SECTOR / GEOGRAPHICAL BREAKDOWNS - These are expressed as a percentage of total portfolio and cash. Investments in liquidity funds will be shown as cash.

TOP 10 HOLDINGS - These are expressed as a percentage of total portfolio and cash. Investments in liquidity funds / treasury stocks will not be shown in the top 10 holdings.
